

HEATED HISTORIC CENSORURE DEBATE STARTS

About Town

And Country
By TIMOTHEUS T.

TIMOTHEUS UNBOUND: Since thumbnail quizzes seems to be the order of the day and since there'll be a full day to hide out and let the people forget, Timmo comes back with a bit of a quiz on things musical.

You remember, some time back this department decided to get into the thumbnail quiz business and gave you one which was more or less general. But this time I'm going to stick to music because I've always heard it's better to be specific—although to be general or admiral isn't so bad because the pay is pretty good, they say.

Anyway, let's get on with the quiz and to be sure you know what you're doing, I'll tell you right now that one of the answers in the groups of four is correct and the other three are false. In the thumbnail that precedes the true answer, all you have to do is put your cross or check or any other kind of mark you desire. And, if you're really the contrary type, you don't have to use the thumbnails at all. You can underline the correct answer, draw a circle around it, mark out the three incorrect answers, or use a colored pencil. Or just ignore the whole thing. It really doesn't make much difference.

So I guess by now we're ready to start and when I say "Go!" get busy with that pencil.

"GO!"

Here's the first one:

I. Which of these songs did Irving Berlin write?

- () "My Suit Got Mothy in North Chillothee."
- () "All Alone."
- () "The Highway Swings, My Engine Pings from Mitchellville to Dixon Springs."
- () "In My Yacht with Dot."

Had time enough for the first one? Let's pause a minute so that everybody can get through, then resume on the next question. Here it is:

II. Who wrote the song, "I'd Like to See Samoa of Samoa?"

- () Admiral Nimitz.
- () Walter Bullock.
- () Cornelius McGillicuddy.
- () Elmer Snij.

Here's another one that I know's going to be tough, but you can't beat perseverance and endeavor for coming out on top, unless you happen to have the right answers written on your cuff. It is:

III. Jimmy Durante wrote:

- () "Up Sandy Slough with a Fishing Worm and You."
- () "Inka Dinka Doo."
- () "Go Geraldine, the Light is Green."

() "I'll Dance with Jill at St. Francisville."

IV. Who wrote "Sweet Mama, Your Papa's Getting Mad?"

- () Drew Pearson.
- () George A. Little.
- () Reuben Gomez.
- () Little Willie.

And:

V. Billy Hill is the composer of:

- () "It Costed Many a Dollar with Many Exergive to Build a Fine Project Like Lake Harrisburg."
- () "The Last Roundup."
- () "Empty Wheels."
- () "Wagon Saddles."

Stick around; this is the last one (I can go no further with my Roman numerals).

VI. Who wrote "Is the Fauna and the Flora, Isadora?"

- () Mark this one; your guess is as good as mine.

Red Cross Offers

Salute to Veterans Day

Bruce Burnett, chairman of the Saline County Red Cross, joins Miss Elizabeth Olson, director of Home Services for the Red Cross in offering a salute to men and women whose services to their country have caused Nov. 11 to be set aside as "Veteran's Day."

The official concern of the government for its discharged servicemen and their families, has been paralleled through the years by all the people of the nation in their voluntary support of Red Cross services to veterans. It is 36 years since the Armistice—even before that day, Red Cross was asked by the government to "stand by" for service to veterans. To countless thousands of service men and their families over the years, Red Cross chapter workers have represented a warmly outstretched hand which helped them resume a constructive role in civilian service.

It is fitting that the Red Cross pledges continued representation, Mr. Burnett said, of the interest and service of our communities to those who may in years to come serve all of us in the protection and defense of freedom and peace.

Paducah Row Ended

Workers There, At Oak Ridge Accept Pact

Seven-Month Labor Dispute Over for 4,500 Employees

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (CP) — Some 4,500 workers, who produce the nation's entire supply of uranium-235 in plants here and at Paducah, Ky., ended a seven-month labor dispute today by accepting a compromise wage increase proposal.

The 3,500 workers here and 1,000 at Paducah—all members of the CIO Gas, Coke and Chemical workers, voted to accept a recommended 6-cent an hour wage increase retroactive to April 15, with an additional 4 cents effective Jan. 15.

Union officials here said the workers accepted the proposal by a "pretty good majority" while at Paducah the new wage bracket was accepted by a "slim majority."

Tabulation of the results of two days' of voting was completed late Tuesday night.

The workers averaged from $1.58 to $2.40 an hour before the settlement. They had been demanding an increase of 15 cents an hour.

The Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Corp., which operates the plants for the government, remained firm on its offer of 6 cents, an amount recommended by a presidential board.

Ike Goes To Kansas, to See Family

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Eisenhower scheduled a pilgrimage to his Abilene, Kans., boyhood home today to dedicate new additions to a museum housing trophies and souvenirs of his military and political career.

From Abilene, he plans to fly to Toledo, Ohio, for a day and half of duck hunting along the shore of Lake Erie. He expects to return to Washington Saturday afternoon.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower were scheduled to take off from National Airport at about noon for the flight to Abilene.

The trip also will be the occasion for a family reunion. Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, brother of the President, flew with them from Washington.

En route they scheduled a stop at an Air Force base to pick up Maj. John Eisenhower and his wife and three children. John is stationed at Ft. Leavenworth, Kans.

Another brother, Earl, and his wife, will join the family gathering at Abilene. Earl is publisher of a newspaper at LaGrange, Ill.

Dedication of two new wings on the Eisenhower museum is scheduled for Thursday.

John Williams Hughes, BBC Newscaster, To Address Dinner Club Thursday, Nov. 18

Vast changes in world affairs will be the theme of John Williams Hughes, the distinguished BBC newscaster, author and lecturer, who will be the guest speaker of the Southern Illinois Dinner club Thursday evening, Nov. 18, at the Kurto country club. The dinner meeting will begin at 6:30 p. m.

The genial and pleasant speaking newscaster was born on the Island of Anglesey in Wales and received his formal education in Great Britain. During World War II, he served in the British Army with the Artillery and later with the Army School of Education in India where, as an Executive Officer, he civilian population of the mountains of Central India, he had a rare insight into the life of the people.

He has learned of the Commonwealth and of the world generally first hand, by personal observation of the leaders and the people of many lands. He is as much at home in Karachi as in Kansas City; or in Waterloo, Iowa, as at Waterloo Station in London. His broadcasts from the United States to London over the BBC have made him a very well known figure in radio circles. Before he started them, as a matter of preparation, he visited every one of the forty-eight states.

He has been a very popular lecturer here and abroad. His tours have taken him from coast-to-coast and he has lectured in India and elsewhere in the Far East. Mr. Hughes is also a writer of parts. He has published: "They Shall Not Perish," "Into Exile," and "Man From Syria," and he has two other books pending.

On his recent trip around the world he was a guest of the Governor of Bengal, and the Dutch Chief of Staff in Indonesia.

Members of the dinner club should make advance reservations for themselves and their guests with Rees Turner, club secretary.

Continental Defense Outlined To Kiwanis Club

Continental Defense against air attack was outlined to members of the Kiwanis club last night at the Masonic temple by C. C. Sprung, from Paducah, Ky. Mr. Sprung is an Army Reserve officer and a mobilization designee assigned to anti-aircraft defense.

He explained the defense has been built up almost entirely since the Korean war and now Continental Defense has full control of interceptor planes and anti-aircraft weapons in the United States.

The Air Force Defense Command and the Army Anti-Aircraft Command have a joint operation with eastern, central and western headquarters on a 24-hour, seven-day basis. The central base is near Kansas City.

Each plane coming over the United States is checked by these highly secret bases.

In case of attack attempts would be made to shoot down the planes before they came over any cities or guarded areas, Mr. Sprung said.

Besides the conventional anti-aircraft weapons from War II, which can protect an area fairly well, the guarded areas now have the highly secret guided missiles, which Mr. Sprung could only mention. The anti-aircraft and sky-sweeper weapons have ranged up to 40,000 feet, he said, but the guided missiles can be guided to their target at whatever range is needed.

The speaker was introduced by Dan Davis, president-elect of the Kiwanis club.

Other guests of the club last night were Elmer McCormack and Douglas Ewell. They were introduced by Bill Brashears.

HTHS Expense Exceeds Income; Relief Asked

Election Saturday, December 4, on Rate Increase

The Harrisburg Township High school, with the lowest tax rate out of 33 high schools in southern Illinois, is not receiving sufficient tax funds to operate financially, and the school board proposes to bring the situation to a vote of the taxpayers for a decision as to what shall be done.

An election will be held Saturday, December 4, to determine whether the tax rate shall be increased from 50 cents per $100 assessed valuation to a permissible rate of 71 cents per $100 valuation. Other high schools in this part of the state have rates running variously up to $1.00.

The rate of 50 cents per $100 valuation is the maximum permitted by law without approval of an increase by voters, and this rate has not been brought in sufficient revenue to operate on a balanced budget for the past three years, according to reports of school officials.

During the financial year starting July 1, 1951, the expenses began exceeding the income. There was a cash balance of about $25,000 at that time, but this has been used, and at the close of the financial year ending June 30, 1954, all cash reserve had been used and more than $25,000 had been used of tax money ordinarily set aside for this year's operations.

It is expected that there will be a deficit of at least $35,000 at the end of this school year.

On this basis, school officials are faced with requesting the tax rate increase, or of curtailing some of the school's services.

Co-Operative Pays Off Government

More than 300 farmers and their wives attended the 21st annual meeting of the Harrisburg Production Credit Association held Tuesday at the Kurto country club.

It was a real celebration for farmers in the 14 counties served by the association because the goal set by the organization 21 years ago of complete farmer-ownership was reached.

It was reported that this credit co-operative has a membership of approximately 1,000 farmers and lends around one million five hundred thousand a year.

W. S. Brock, president of the Production Credit Corporation of St. Louis, was present to accept the association check of $10,000 which represented the amount of government investment in the association. Mr. Brock complimented the association upon the achievement and stated for any co-operative to succeed requires leadership of a competent board, efficient employees, and a loyal membership.

F. E. Bramlet, Saline county, and W. P. Rendleman, Union county, were elected to the board of directors. Other members of the board are: Max Wilson, Ridgeway, E. A. Fosse, Marion, and W. H. Beauman, Tunnel Hill.

McCarthy and Watkins Blast Each Other

Two Charges Against Senator from Wisconsin Aired

By HERBERT FOSTER
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah) accused Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy today of failing to uphold his oath of office. The Wisconsin Republican accused Watkins of "misstating facts."

Thus began, in anger and heat, the Senate's historic debate of a resolution to censure McCarthy on two counts—contempt of a Senate subcommittee and abuse of an Army general.

Watkins, chairman of a special six-man committee which unanimously recommended that the Senate reprimand McCarthy, had introduced the formal resolution of censure Tuesday. McCarthy had released in advance of delivery a speech accusing the committee of making itself the "unwitting handmaiden" of the Communist Party.

Today Watkins in a prepared speech said the committee would leave it up to the Senate whether to accept its recommendations. But he said the committee's findings were based "for the most part upon uncontroverted evidence."

Battle Is Joined

At the end of his speech, Watkins yielded for a McCarthy question and the battle was on.

McCarthy hammered away at Watkins' conduct of the hearings from which came the censure recommendations. He concentrated at the outset on the Watkins committee's criticism of his conduct toward a 1951-52 Senate elections subcommittee, headed by Sen. Guy M. Gillette (D-Iowa), which investigated McCarthy's finances.

Watkins told McCarthy the censure committee felt he "should have co-operated" with the Gillette group and "that you could not fulfill your oath to defend the Constitution by damming the Gillette committee from the very first day."

"Your conduct indicated very clearly that you were ignoring that committee completely," Watkins said. "You were blasting it with letters. You were making denunciatory statements about it at the very time when as a senator you had the duty of a senator to uphold the Constitution, you should have been helping them. You refused to do that."

"A Strong Feeling"

Watkins continued: "I have a strong feeling that, under the Constitution, the duty of a senator of the United States is to respect committees and to co-operate to the limit, particularly when his own honor, the honor of his state, and the honor of the Senate are at stake."

One of McCarthy's complaints against the censure committee is that Watkins ruled during the hearings that he could not put in the record a charge that the Gillette committee "had called as a witness 'an insane man to smear me.'"

In questioning Watkins today, he also contended that the 1951-52 charges against him had been "prepared" in the Democratic National Committee. He said the Gillette group exceeded its jurisdiction by going into the status of McCarthy's affairs before he became a senator.

The usually calm Watkins flared up at one point when McCarthy referred to aides of the censure committee as "prosecuting attorneys."

"Just a minute, Sir," snapped

Eisenhower Insists Dixon-Yates Power Matter Not Political

WASHINGTON — The Republican majority of the Senate today voted down a Democratic move to shelve the controversial Dixon-Yates power contract until next year. The vote was 10-8 on straight party lines.

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower today deplored political wrangling over the Dixon-Yates power contract.

He said that if there is any politics in the matter it is not of his making.

He discussed the controversial contract at his news conference with the Congressional Atomic Energy Committee prepared to vote on a Democratic bid to sidetrack it at least until next year.

Sen. W. Sterling Cole, who is chairman of the House-Senate atomic energy committee, predicted his GOP majority on the committee would vote down the Democratic attempt.

Fighter Escorts are OK Says Eisenhower

Early Elizabethtown Related at Saline Co. Historical Society Meeting

The Saline County Historical society met for the November session Tuesday in the public library. In the absence of the president, Louis Aaron, the meeting was conducted by James Bond.

The program on the history of Hardin county and Elizabethtown was presented by A. R. Matheny, county clerk of Hardin county, Mrs. Charlotte Gullett, owner of the Rose hotel, and James Robertson from the Hardin county Independent which is an 83 year old newspaper.

Mr. Matheny stated that Hardin county is one of the oldest settled parts of Illinois. It was largely settled by people from southeastern Illinois. Consequently there were many southern sympathizers and some enlistees there during the Civil War. The county grew rapidly after the Civil War for a few years but now the population is declining.

How Town Named

Mrs. Gullett added that the first settlers were three men by the names of Hardin, McFarlan and Grand Pierre. James McFarlan stayed on in the town, now called Elizabethtown for his wife, Elizabeth Pemberton McFarlan. In 1812 he built a brick inn 24 feet square and two stories high on the promontory overlooking the Ohio.

In the 1840's two more rooms were added on the east and in 1885 the present dining room and wing to the north were constructed.

Recover Numerous Items Taken by Boy

City and county law authorities have recovered a large number of articles that had been stolen from various business houses in Harrisburg by a nine-year-old boy, it was reported today.

Included in the loot were cowboy hats, cap pistols and fancy holsters, a baseball and first baseman's glove, camera and other items.

Mayor Suspect Himself, Tells Sheppard Jury

Trial Continues in Which Doctor Accused Of Murdering Wife

By H. D. QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
CLEVELAND — Mayor Spencer Houk of Bay Village testified today that Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard had pointed the finger of suspicion at him as the bludgeoned murderer of Sheppard's pregnant wife, Marilyn.

Houk, who had been a close friend and neighbor of the Sheppards before the July 4 murder, testified he had pleaded with the husband to confess "if he had done it."

He said Sheppard replied he could not have done it and instead told him there was an "interest" in Houk as a suspect.

The state accuses the 30-year-old osteopath-surgeon of beating his wife to death after a quarrel over his attentions to other women, particularly to Susan Hayes, 24, a red-haired laboratory technician.

Tells of Possibility

Testifying for the second day as a state witness, the slow-speaking, deep-voiced mayor also told how Dr. Sheppard and his brother, Stephen, also a doctor, had come to him with a psychiatrist's idea that a schizophrenic who was "a close personal friend" of Marilyn might have committed the crime.

The psychiatrist, who was not identified in court, was of opinion that this person had had Marilyn "up on a pedestal," Houk testified. Then, when he learned that she was to have a baby, in

Son of Estel Kings Dies in Cedar Lake, Ind.

David King, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Estel King, former residents of Harrisburg but now of Cedar Lake, Ind., died yesterday at 5 p. m. in Cedar Lake.

He was the grandson of Mrs. Hester Hooker, 1317 West Dorris street. The funeral and burial will be Friday in Charleston, Mo.

The McFarlans operated the hotel until 1890 when it was sold to Mrs. Sarah A. Rose and became known as the Rose hotel, now the oldest hotel in Illinois still operating. It is owned by Mrs. Gullett, daughter of Mrs. Rose.

Helen Donald cooked at the hotel for 46 years and at the end of that period her daughter took over. Today a daughter, Frankie, and her husband, Clarence Wood, help operate the hotel. Mrs. Wood was a waitress there 35 years.

Potato Shipments

For many years the most important mode of transportation was boat. The McFarlan Ferry was used on the route to the salt wells of Equality. Also the Ford's Ferry road led in the same direction. Elizabethtown was an important shipping port for large potato crops.

Mr. Robertson related the story of the burning of two Hardin county court houses, in 1883 and in 1921. The fire started in the sheriff's office.

The riverfront once owned by the McFarlans now belongs to the town. This area has been made into a park which looks upstream toward the Rose hotel summer house.

Following the talks about Elizabethtown, a social hour was held under the direction of Mrs. D. L. Shain, Mrs. James Garner, Mrs. Clyde Pittman and Mrs. D. F. Rumsey.

Mrs. Carnahan, 96, Is Dead

Mrs. Martha Lou Flanders Carnahan, who would have been 96 years of age Thursday, died Tuesday afternoon at 3:40 at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Charles Summers, 1706 Marshall street in Eldorado.

Mrs. Carnahan is the widow of Hez Carnahan and is a former resident of Harrisburg, Equality and the Rocky Branch community.

She is survived by the following children: Mrs. Charles Summers, Eldorado, Don Flanders, Equality, and Ralph Flanders of East Alton; and stepchildren: Mrs. Cal Wiede, m. and Mrs. Dan Church, both of Harrisburg; Mrs. Will Smith, Cottage Grove; Mrs. Nettie Smith, Raleigh; Herb Carnahan, Rocky Branch; two sisters, Mrs. Carrie King, Matthew, Mo.; Mrs. Lillie Walker, Memphis, Tenn.; one brother, Francis Moore, Senath, Mo.; 11 grandchildren, 18 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

The funeral will be Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Eldorado Church of God. Rev. T. L. Forester, Flint, Mich., assisted by Rev. H. Mushegan, pastor, will conduct the service, and burial will be in the Equality cemetery.

The body lies in state at the Bean and Tanner funeral home in Eldorado.

Harry Walter, Retired Golconda Miller, Dies

Harry Walter, 80, who for many years and until his retirement recently was engaged in the milling business in Golconda, died Monday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. H. Hundley, in Tulsa, Okla.

He is also survived by one son, Robert, of Chicago and one sister, Mrs. Rilla Sinn, of Stockland, Ill.

The body is being returned to Anna Friday at 1 p. m. from where it will be taken directly to the Waltersburg Methodist church west of Golconda for the funeral at 3 p. m. Rev. H. M. Fish, pastor of the Golconda Methodist, will officiate, and burial will be in the church cemetery.

States Needed In Risky Areas For Protection

Declares Dispute Between U. S., Reds Over Site of Attack

By CHARLES CORDDRY
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower said today the United States should provide fighter escorts to protect American military planes on proper missions near risky areas.

Mr. Eisenhower told his news conference that he personally approved the stiff American protest to Moscow on the recent shooting down of an American plane.

He said the United States believes the plane had a right to fly in the area.

Calm Attitude

Asked about fighter escorts, Mr. Eisenhower said that when they are necessary, and when American planes are where they have a right to go, then we should use fighter escorts.

The President's attitude on the latest plane incident in which 10 American airmen survived and one died was very calm.

The President said there was a dispute between Russia and the United States over the area where the plane was attacked.

The plane was on a mapping mission over the northernmost Japanese island of Hokkaido. The plane was near Hanasaki peninsula. The Russians occupy the Habomai island group which is only three miles from the tip of the peninsula and is in the southern end of the Kurile island chain.

Mr. Eisenhower said a wartime agreement gave the Kurile Islands to Russia, but did not definitely define the Habomai island group.

Ike Sees Hope

The President also said the general Soviet attitude on this incident seems to be more conciliatory than in some other instances in the past. He indicated that the Russians may have sent a new note. Russia's first note said the B29 opened fire first.

Other news conference remarks: 1. He said he was not going to say that Charles E. Bohlen, U. S

McCarthy's Defense

Editorial — By BRUCE BLOSSAT

It is no accident that Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin has broken his long autumnal silence. The reconvening of the Senate to consider charges against him has arrived, and the senator is preparing his defenses.

There was a time when McCarthy said the 1954 election would revolve largely about the issue of Communism, and whether or not he should be continued as chairman of a Senate investigating committee. But the campaign just ended appears to have been fought mainly on other issues, and in countless states McCarthy's name was hardly, if ever, mentioned.

The senator himself took no part in the campaign except to offer a blanket endorsement of all GOP candidates but one, and then to appeal for unity in his party.

Partly because of the special Watkins committee's censure findings, partly because of the impact of the springtime Army-McCarthy hearings, there evidently was no strong demand for McCarthy's campaign services this fall.

Possibly, too, he was prevailed on by some GOP leaders to remain on the sidelines. And McCarthy may have concluded that it was the better part of wisdom to concentrate on his coming Senate floor defense against charges that he is guilty of conduct unbecoming a senator.

Whatever the explanation, the senator is busy hitting the public printers again. The keynote of his defense was pretty well disclosed the other day when he indicated he expected to be censured by the full Senate and would focus effort on making his case before the whole American public.

The core of this effort seems to be to suggest that the senators who will vote against him do not have open minds. McCarthy already has endeavored to cast doubt on the fairness of the six-man Watkins committee, a group viewed in the Senate as unusually qualified to judge this difficult matter.

Now the senator has sought to classify all those in the full Senate who may support the censure move the committee recommended. He lists four categories:

1. The "Flanders-Lehman" type, who "fight those who fight communism."

2. The "Watkins type," who are "afraid of what the newspapers might say about them if they don't oppose McCarthy."

3. The (Sen. Edwin C.) Johnson group, "who dislike McCarthy because they feel pinned the Communist label on the Democrats."

4. "Self-styled liberals" on the Republican side of the Senate.

It is a foregone conclusion that this sort of defense maneuver will not improve McCarthy's chances of escaping censure. Nor does he likely expect any such result.

But most forecasts suggest upwards of 60 senators may vote to remove him for his conduct. And it does seem a little puzzling that McCarthy should expect to persuade the American people that not one of those who will vote against him will do so in the honest conviction that the charges against him are true.

Dr. Molotov Receives a Rush Call

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: McCarthy's Revenge Technique Irides His Colleagues; McCarthy Calls Those Who Oppose Him Communists Or Big Into Private Lives; He Has His Own Privately Paid Army Of Agents With Power To Get Secret Tax Returns.

WASHINGTON. — The two factors which have hurt Joe McCarthy most during his acrimonious career in the Senate are: 1, his attacks on members of the Eisenhower administration; 2, his vindictiveness against fellow senators who oppose him.

McCarthy's attacks on members of the Eisenhower administration have been well publicized. His revenge technique of investigating those who oppose him is not so well known. But it has made Senate colleagues bitter. Here is part of the revenge record:

Senator Symington of Missouri—When Symington persisted in digging into the reasons why Bon Surine was dropped from the FBI, a friend of McCarthy's approached Democratic senators on the McCarthy committee and warned that if this line of cross-examination continued, McCarthy would insist on publishing the police records of senators. This was aimed at Symington who as a youngster went on a joy ride in a neighbor's car without bothering to ask permission and later pleaded guilty. The neighbor later wrote a letter pool-poohing the incident, but it remains a matter of police record.

Senator Jackson of Washington—When Jackson asked searching questions of Roy Cohn, Cohn jostled him in the corridor and whispered: "Want to get rough? We can get rough too." Surine then brought into the hearing room a file marked "Senator Jackson's record" and ostentatiously put it on the table where everyone could see it.

John J. McCloy — When McCloy, former high commissioner to Germany, now head of the Chase bank, instigated Eisenhower's book-burning speech at Dartmouth, McCarthy investigated him up in Germany to probe McCloy's operations, even including whether Mrs. McCloy used her government car to buy groceries. McCarthy also accused McCloy of destroying records on Communists inside the War Department.

Sen. Robert Hendrickson of New Jersey — When Hendrickson signed the Senate subcommittee report condemning McCarthy's finances, McCarthy threatened to fight Hendrickson's re-election, called him a "living miracle" — the only man in the world who has lived so long with neither brains nor guts.

Senator Tydings of Maryland — When Tydings refused to confirm McCarthy's charges of Communists in the State Department, McCarthy raised money to defeat Tydings and circulated a fake picture of Tydings smiling at Communist chief Earl Browder.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine — When Mrs. Smith signed the declaration of conscience indirectly criticizing McCarthy's behavior, he maneuvered one of his friends, Robert Jones, into running against her.

Struve Hensel, Assistant Defense Secretary — When Hensel wrote a report on the Cohn-Schine attempts to browbeat the Army, McCarthy got hold of Hensel's income-tax returns and sent two investigators to browbeat Hensel's mother-in-law; even told her her daughter was in a hit-and-run accident in order to scare her into giving information.

Time Magazine — When Time published critical stories about McCarthy, he wrote every advertiser asking them to cancel their advertising; later secured from Postmaster General Summerfield the figures on Time's second-class mailing privileges and proceeded to cross-examine Summerfield in an Appropriations subcommittee meeting in an obvious effort to undercut Time's mailing privileges.

Senator Hennings of Missouri — When Hennings served on the committee probing McCarthy's finances, McCarthy charged that Hennings had three Communists in his office. Hennings asked the FBI to investigate, disproved the charge.

Senator Baldwin of Connecticut — When Baldwin, a Republican, refused to swallow McCarthy's charges that American officers had tortured the Nazi SS men who murdered 150 Americans at Malmédy in the Battle of the Bulge, McCarthy proceeded to bulldoze and torment Baldwin until he resigned from the Senate.

Newspapers and Newspapersmen — The list of newsmen against whom McCarthy has used his revenge technique is too long to be published here. He has leveled charges of pro-Communism at the Christian Science Monitor, Saturday Evening Post, Washington Star, St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Milwaukee Journal, Madison (Wis.) Capital Times, Portland Oregonian, and many others.

But the most dangerous aspect of McCarthy's revenge technique is that he uses private money contributed by his Texas oil friends to hire an army of investigators and they in turn are able to secure the tax return of anyone against whom McCarthy has a personal gripe.

This is probably the first time in history that a personal, private army of investigators has been able to use U. S. government records and the power of U. S. government subpoenas in somewhat the same manner Hitler used his Elite Corps in Germany.

GOP Chairman Len Hall tried to console his assistants over losing the House. "All the committee chairmen are conservative southerners," Hall told his associates. "Name one northern chairman of an important committee." He forgot that Vice President Nixon warned the nation that Congress would be in the hands of left-wingers. . . . Tests Show Calorie Content Of Beverages

With proper dieting becoming more and more important in order to "look your best" in today's newest slim-line fashions, the Tea Council of the U. S. A. has released a calorie chart to The Daily Register which contains several pertinent calorie comparisons.

At the request of the Tea Council, the Miner Laboratories, Chicago, Ill., scientifically examined different varieties of hot and cold beverages and computed the calorie content of each. The results of the tests are as follows:

Beverage	Approx. Calories 6-Ounce Serving
Grape Juice (canned or bottled)	121
Milk	107
Grape Juice (frozen)	101
Orange Flavor Drink	95
Orange Juice (fresh)	94
Berry Flavor Drink	94
Orange Juice (frozen)	88
Super Coola	87
Root Beer	86
Lemonade (frozen)	86
Pepsi-Cola	86
Royal Crown Cola	83
Coca-Cola	78
Root Beer (sugar-free)	19
Orange Drink (sugar-free)	17
Coffee	11
Tea	4

Of course, the calorie content of coffee and tea rises with the addition of flavorings such as cream, milk, or sugar. Six ounces of hot coffee with cream and sugar amounts to 57 calories. However, experienced tea drinkers prefer milk to cream in their tea, since milk supposedly accents the flavor of the tea, helping to create a more fragrant aroma and richer body to the beverage. A dieter, therefore, can enjoy a six-ounce serving of hot tea, with a teaspoon of sugar and 1-2 ounce of milk, and still consume only 29 calories. The calorie comparison is in even greater inverse proportion when content of iced coffee and tea is analyzed, since iced coffee, with sugar and cream, contains 94 calories per six-ounce serving, and iced tea, with sugar and lemon, contains only 30 calories for the same portion.

It is also noticeable that Coca-Cola contains less calories per six-ounce serving than any other soft drink, with the exception of the sugar-free soft drink. Even though milk ranks high on the calorie chart, it is still recommended on many diet charts because of its high protein content and its all-around food value.

The Daily Register has received the following letter from Southern Illinois Incorporated with praise for its support of the Autumn Color tours of southern Illinois scenic places during October:

The Daily Register Harrisburg, Illinois Gentlemen:

Our organization — Southern Illinois Incorporated — has been most gratified to see the complete cooperation and splendid coverage you have given our Recreation Committee Chairman, Mr. William H. As a result of your publicity and through their efforts, approximately 1,000 persons have enjoyed guided tours throughout the little Ozarks and the Shawnee Hills area of our state. Additional thousands have seen your printed reports with accompanying pictures and have made themselves mental promises to visit those spectacular places at the earliest possible opportunity.

Again, I say, many thanks and we hope to have your continued encouragement.

Sincerely,

Romulo Challenges Russia to Contribute To A-for-Peace Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines challenged Russia today to make a positive contribution towards converting the atom to peaceful use.

At the same time, he warned that worldwide atomic controls may be impossible.

Romulo spoke in the "atoms-for-peace" debate by the General Assembly's Political and Security committee.

He noted Russia's recent announcement that it has an electric power plant run by atomic energy, and recalled that a Soviet delegate once told the U. N. of atomic projects for razing mountains and irrigating deserts.

"It does seem that this is the opportune time for the Soviet Union to make some more concrete reports and to offer some more explicit contributions for the greater knowledge of man in the peaceful benefits of atomic energy," Romulo said.

'Gentleman Farmer' Says Robbed Bank To Pay His Creditors

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A third Hoosier businessman accused of turning to bank robbery to pay his debts was held here today on charges of robbing a Paragon, Ind., bank of $10,297.

Hiram Vaughn Hutchens, 49, a Shelbyville tire dealer and "gentleman farmer," confessed the Tuesday holdup, state police said, when he was trapped in a police net about 45 minutes after the robbery.

A sharp-eyed Paragon hardware dealer, Maurice Pruett, who provided authorities with a description of the get-away truck, was credited with an assist in Hutchens' capture.

Authorities said Hutchens at first denied the holdup, but later confessed when he was identified "positively" by Ralph Wilson, 40, a new bank employee who was on duty alone when the holdup occurred.

Admitted Slayer of Five Gets Death for Murdering Girl, 14

NEW YORK (U)—Convicted rapist John Francis Roche, 27, who admitted he killed five persons, today faced a mandatory death sentence in the electric chair for the murder of 14-year-old Dorothy Westwater.

Roche was found guilty of murder in the first degree Tuesday for the rape-slaying of the high school girl. A jury which deliberated only 90 minutes, did not recommend mercy, making it mandatory for Judge Jonah J. Goldstein to condemn Roche to death. He will be sentenced Nov. 30.

In addition to the Westwater murder, Roche confessed the slaying of four other persons—a waitress, an elderly woman, a taxi driver and a sailor.

Before she herself realizes it, Jimmy John is taken into the ever-growing family—and they shift again to make room.

In the midst of their hectic but happy existence, tragedy strikes. And added to their troubles, they now have financial difficulties. The heart-warming conclusion which is brought about by Jimmy John—one that will delight and enchant the audience.

Reconnaissance Flights Off Asia Will Continue

WASHINGTON (U)—U. S. reconnaissance flights will continue to operate off Communist Asia's borders and will be quick on the trigger if jumped again by Russian jets, military sources indicated today.

Far East Command aircraft will avoid provocative acts but will meet fire with fire if attacked while flying over international waters or friendly areas in the Orient. Where possible, armed photo-reconnaissance planes will be accompanied by high-speed jet fighters.

A stiffened U. S. position became clear from statements by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and military men Tuesday on Sunday's shooting incident—the downing of an Air Force RB29 airplane over northern Japan. Dulles said Russia lied in claiming the plane was over her Kurile Island area.

At Miami, meanwhile, Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland, addressing the American Dental Assn., renewed a demand Tuesday night for a break in diplomatic relations with Russia over the latest plane incident.

At Tokyo, Radio Peiping charged in a Chinese Communist broadcast that American military planes flew 50 sorties over China's mainland Sunday and Monday in the Chekiang Province area. The broadcast termed the flights "serious encroachment on Chinese territorial air."

Brother of Sen. Flanders Given Security Clearance

CHICAGO (U)—Donald A. Flanders, atomic scientist and brother of Sen. Ralph Flanders (R-Vt.) has received an "unconditional" security clearance from the Atomic Energy Commission, the Chicago Sun-Times reported today. Flanders is mathematician at the AEC's Argonne National Laboratory near Chicago.

The clearance carried an implicit agreement that no member of Flanders' family should communicate in any manner with Alger Hiss, now nearing the end of a five-year federal prison term for perjury, the newspaper said.

The sister of Flanders' wife was once married to Thomas Flanders, who is the brother of Mrs. Alger Hiss. Flanders and Flanders' sister-in-law were divorced in 1941.

Sen. Flanders, who made the original charges which led to censure recommendations against Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, said earlier in Washington that he has been long "prepared" for any attack the Wisconsin Republican might make against the Flanders family relationships.

Democrats Bar Senate Action On Nominations

WASHINGTON (AP)—The determination of Democratic policy-makers to keep Senate attention focused on the McCarthy issue today threatened to bar early action on several of President Eisenhower's top nominations.

Democratic leaders were reported to have opposed to letting any other business interfere with the current sessions on the proposed censure of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

This could leave the fate of some of Mr. Eisenhower's top appointments—including Judge John Marshall Harlan to the Supreme Court and Atomic Energy Commissioner Joseph Campbell to Comptroller General—in the hands of the new Democratic-controlled Congress.

Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson and Republican leader William F. Knowland were expected to confer today on the announced Democratic opposition to Senate action during the McCarthy censure session on any nominations that would require committee hearings or involve any "controversy."

Johnson announced his party's attitude after a meeting of the Senate Democratic Policy Committee Tuesday. He said the Democratic policy chiefs felt the Senate should devote itself to the business of considering censure for McCarthy and avoid any "distractions."

The Texas Democrat said the group felt that any nominations that would "distract" from the McCarthy question should be postponed until the new Senate assembles in January, when the Democrats apparently will be in control.

Nomination Hits Snag
One nomination ran into an immediate snag when the Democrats forced postponement of action until Thursday by the Senate Commerce Committee on the nomination of George C. McConaughy of Ohio to the Federal Communications Commission. McConaughy is serving under a recess appointment.

A dozen or so major nominations have been sent to the Senate since it reassembled Monday. Many of them are not considered controversial.

Youth Indicted in Juke Box Slaying

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP)—David L. Grana, 22, who had been charged with manslaughter in the fatal shooting of Francisco Arriola, 20, Bensenville, Ill., was indicted on murder and manslaughter charges by the Lake county grand jury Tuesday.

Arriola was killed Oct. 31 after an argument in Grana's tavern at Prairie View, Ill., over the selection of songs on a juke box.

Bert Blackwell, 66, Dies Upstate; Rites At Carrier Mills

Bert Blackwell, 66, former resident of Carrier Mills, died Sunday morning at 3 p. m. at the West Lake Memorial hospital in Melrose Park.

He was the husband of Mrs. Alice Blackwell and was born Nov. 2 in 1888 in Carrier Mills to the late George and Margie Blackwell. He was reared in Carrier Mills but had been living in Maywood about 11 years. He worked for the International Harvester Co. for three years and usually followed the blacksmith trade.

The body will be taken from the Keathly funeral home in Harrisburg to the home of his sister, Mrs. Maude Williams in Carrier Mills around 5 p. m. today.

The funeral will be Thursday at 1 p. m. at the Mt. Zion Baptist church. Rev. Henry Hughes will officiate and burial will be in the Lake View cemetery.

He leaves his wife, Alice, and the following children: Aubrey Blackwell of Chicago, Mrs. Aretta Rongdeau, Mrs. Viola Allen, Mrs. Margie McQuitter, Mrs. Elmer Woodard, Mrs. Allie May Wilson, Mrs. Bertie Fay Gwinn, Mrs. Helen Allen, Loren Blackwell, and Miss Judith Blackwell, all of Maywood, Ill.; 13 grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Maude Williams, Carrier Mills, Mrs. Elsie Taylor, Chicago, and a brother, George Blackwell of Carrier Mills.

Joseph T. Meek Assured Old Job

CHICAGO (AP)—Joseph T. Meek, unsuccessful Republican candidate for U. S. senator, was assured today that he'd have his old job back, come Dec. 1.

Meek resigned as President of the Illinois Federation of Retail Associations to make the race for the Senate against U. S. Sen. Paul H. Douglas, Democrat. He said he resigned with the understanding he would resume the job if the Senate seat "did not materialize."

The Federation's 38-man board of directors met late Tuesday, and voted unanimously to return Meek to the job, effective Dec. 1. The board is headed by B. F. Walker, Winchester, Ill.

Mayor a Suspect, He Testifies at Trial his mind "his goddess had been destroyed, so he gets the urge to kill."

Houk was just starting to tell about the psychiatrist Tuesday when court was adjourned. He was the state's fourth witness.

Mayor Describes Scene
The mayor described the scene in the murder home. He told how Dr. Richard N. Sheppard, the defendant's oldest brother, raced upstairs when summoned and examined the beaten body.

Houk said Richard Sheppard returned and said to his brother, "She's gone, Sam," and then demanded "Did you have anything to do with this?" "Hell, no," the husband replied, according to Houk.

Houk said that about 10 days after the slaying, Sam Sheppard and another brother, Dr. Stephen A. Sheppard, came to his office at city hall.

"They informed me," Houk continued, "that the reason for the visit was that they had been paid a call by an East Side psychiatrist. They had not requested him, but he had come voluntarily. He had said —"

At that point defense attorney William J. Corrigan and assistant prosecutor John J. Mahon conferred with Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin. The judge adjourned court.

Indicted in Fatal Shooting

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP)—The Lake county grand jury Tuesday indicted James H. Lanier, 21, for manslaughter in the fatal shooting of Joseph Stock, 40. Lanier admitted to police he shot Stock Sunday in an argument over attentions allegedly paid to Stock's wife at a supper club in Gurnee, Ill.

Bullets Promised Communist Rebels By Guatemala Chief

GUATEMALA CITY (AP)—President Carlos Castillo Armas says most of the 100-odd Communists still imprisoned in this country probably will be executed for their crimes. At least 20 will die this month.

In an interview Tuesday, Castillo said he believes the courts will send the Reds before the firing squads to pay for the murders and atrocities they committed before his revolutionary victory last summer ended Communist domination of Guatemala.

The president also announced officially for the first time that his government has asked Mexico to extradite pro-Red ex-President Jacobo Arbenz, former Foreign Minister, Guillermo Toriello and other prominent refugees to answer for their part in the crimes committed by the previous regime.

Eisenhower Sees Marine Iwo Jima Statue Dedicated

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower solemnly witnessed the dedication today of the United States Marine Corps War Memorial, a heroic statue of the five Marines and one Navy man who raised the flag at Iwo Jima in World War II.

On the 179th anniversary of the corps, Mr. Eisenhower led a procession to Arlington National Cemetery, where the 100-ton bronze memorial was unveiled on a 7 1/2 acre tract overlooking the Potomac river and Washington.

Nine years in the making, the $50,000 memorial was inspired by Joe Rosenthal's famous picture made on Iwo's Mount Suribachi at the height of the bloody battle for the Pacific Island on Feb. 23, 1945.

Pinball Machines Object of Study; Mustn't Pay Cash

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The Sangamon County grand jury today launched an investigation to determine whether pinball machine operators are violating Illinois gambling laws.

State's Atty. George P. Coutrakon said subpoenas were issued to more than 150 persons who own pinball machines or who operate places where the devices are in use.

A common type of pinball machine in use here is fixed to pay off winners in free games. It is a violation of the law if a winner is paid cash instead of free plays.

New Parking Problem—It's Airplanes This Time

CHICAGO (AP)—Flying oilmen have caused a parking jam at Chicago airports.

Midway Airport had to close off part of two runways to provide parking space for some of the 115 corporation-owned planes flown here by oilmen attending the American Petroleum Institute convention.

Distance from the earth to the sun is 92,897,400 miles.

Seek Injection of Spiritual Resources Into World Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two hundred Protestant, Catholic and Jewish leaders asked President Eisenhower today to start a "point five" program that would emphasize the spiritual motivation behind this country's Point Four aid to underdeveloped countries.

The suggestion was part of a report on the nation's spiritual resources and how they may be mobilized to brighten America's future, here and abroad.

Its presentation at a brief White House ceremony marked the high point in the three-day annual meeting of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, which is dedicated to promoting understanding among the three faiths.

Heated Historic Censure Debate Starts

Watkins. "I yielded for a question. I did not yield for you to abuse the committee staff who cannot reply."

McCarthy Strategy Clear
McCarthy left no doubt from the outset about his intention to fight it out with the Watkins group on every point possible.

He accused Watkins frequently of "misstating facts" and improperly refusing to take certain testimony during the censure hearings. Sen. Herman Welker (R-Idaho), one of McCarthy's backers, broke in to ask Watkins if he thought the people of Wisconsin did not know McCarthy's record when they re-elected him in 1952.

Watkins said, "The people of Wisconsin apparently didn't have all the facts."

McCarthy also questioned Watkins about a statement he made several weeks ago that senators could have an opinion about McCarthy and still be capable of judging him fairly.

Watkins replied that a completely neutral person on the subject would have to be "deaf, dumb and blind and a moron."

McCarthy questioned the impartiality of two members of the censure committee—Watkins and Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-N.C.).

He charged that Watkins, after shaking hands with him early this year, told a newspaper columnist afterward he hoped photographers had not taken a picture of the incident because "I'd never be able to explain it to newspapers in my state."

"I never said any such thing," Watkins replied.

Two Dead, 10 Hurt In Auto-Bus Crash

CHICAGO (AP)—Two men were killed and 10 persons were injured Tuesday night in a head-on bus collision on Chicago's South-west Side.

The dead were Harry Miller, 29, Lemont, Ill., and Henry C. Ahrens, 50, Downers Grove, Ill.

Outbuilding Lost

The city fire department was called to the extreme west end of Raymond street at noon today where an outbuilding was ablaze. The building caught fire when a rubbish fire got out of control. The outbuilding was destroyed but there was no other damage.

Colonel-Colonel

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—When you call Alfred Waddell "colonel" you have to specify which one. He's a colonel in the Civil Air Patrol and also holds the title on the governor's staffs of Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Greenwich Village in New York City corresponds to the Latin Quarter in Paris.

40 Passengers Praise Pilot In Safe Landing

CHICAGO (AP)—The 40 passengers of a crippled American Airlines Convair today praised the pilot and crew for keeping them calm while struggling to skid the plane to a safe "belly" landing.

Capt. Hugh C. Barron, Tulsa, Okla., brought the twin-engined plane down on its nose and left wheels at Glenview Naval Air Station Tuesday after circling 68 minutes in an effort to free the right landing gear.

All passengers and the crew of three escaped. American reported a cut finger suffered by one passenger was the only injury.

Mrs. Shirley Stratton, wife of Ill. Gov. William G. Stratton and one of the passengers, said "The pilot and crew were wonderful. They told us what was wrong, what to expect and how to get out."

On landing, the plane rolled 2,000 feet down the runway on the nose and left wheels, then skidded another 1,000 feet on the fuselage and a shower of sparks.

510 NORTH MAIN

THE STORY: Greg Seaver, 28, wishes to give up a job with a future for a job with a present, and he goes to see Wade Daggett, who answered his ad. Greg confesses that working for his stepfather isn't such a bad job, but he wants something he seems to be missing. Wade apparently is a man of means, but he is paralyzed, an invalid.

IV

Greg did not know how to talk to people. Right now he ought to be handing out a smooth line. Bright talk. Well, he just was not a talker and Daggett could take it or leave it. Greg never acknowledged to himself that he did not talk because he was afraid of giving himself away. Literally. Not that he had any particular secrets. It was himself, his own inner life, that he was afraid of sharing—or betraying; he was never sure which.

Daggett did not seem to mind the silence. His eyes had lost their defiant look, though they were still not trusting; like a well-mannered watch dog that would give you the benefit of the doubt so long as you behaved.

Then Daggett, who had apparently been thinking about what Greg had said, asked, "Do they treat you right?"

"Oh, yes. They are nice people to work for."

"Then what is wrong?" the old man persisted.

"Nothing is wrong when you come right down to it," Greg admitted. "For a man of my type I'm sitting pretty."

"What is your type?"

"Run of the mill. Average. I'm the guy they mean when they talk about 'the man in the street.'"

"So you are sitting pretty and you don't like it. Why not?"

The nurse came in, walking hard on the rubber heels of her flat shoes, shook a pill out of a box into her scrubbed hands and gave Daggett a glass of water. He swallowed the pill and the water and she marched out again. He wiped his mouth and looked at Greg.

"Florence Nightingale crossed with Nick the Blood," he commented.

Greg laughed. He felt completely at ease now, as though he had often before sat in the wing chair across from the old man. It was funny the way people went on talking about making friends. You could not make a friend. You just knew him by some sign you could not explain.

"You aren't married, I take it. Engaged? Got a girl?"

Greg shook his head. "No danger of that. The right one didn't want me and I don't like substitutes, not even a reasonable facsimile."

Something moved behind the old man's eyes. "But that was in another country, and besides the wench is dead," he quoted unexpectedly. "Is that why you want to make a change?"

"Because of a girl? No, sir." When the old man waited, Greg added slowly, "I suppose I don't really believe in it. That kind of security, I mean. It's a sort of gamble you make with yourself. I'll stick to this job until I'm 65. Then, if I am still living and conditions are the same and The Bomb has missed me, I'll have food and shelter until I die. All the logic seems to be on their side. Only," Greg looked up and saw that Daggett was waiting.

He rubbed his forehead with his hand as though trying to stir up his thoughts. "Look, suppose you die at 50. You've lost your old-age security—you've lost your old age!—and all the living you gave up for it besides."

He was a persistent old man. "What kind of living?"

"I don't know exactly," Greg said. "I'd like to find out what I can do; see what there is to choose from. I'd like to meet new kinds of people and do things I hadn't expected and see how I could handle a situation if I was up against it. I want—"

"A glimpse at the other side of the moon," Daggett suggested.

He fell silent, sunk so deep in his thoughts that Greg waited, not wanting to disturb him.

At length he stirred, folded his plump left hand over the withered right one. Greg was beginning to recognize the gesture as a signal that the old man was about to speak and that he instinctively tried to hide his deformity when he knew that he would be looked at.

"Well, now," he said, "I've got a kind of proposition. Not what you are looking for, probably. About all I can say is that it would take you away from those graphs. Break up the monotony." Greg was aware that the old man found it hard to describe the job because

Five Teenagers Face Charges for Flooding Gym Floor

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (U.P.)—Five teenagers today faced charges of flooding the gymnasium floor of the new Libertyville-Fremont Township high school "for a lark."

Police said the youths admitted Tuesday that they dragged a hose being used for watering new grass through an unlocked door and let the water pour onto the gym's expensive cork floor last weekend. Workers discovered four inches of water on the floor Sunday when they came to prepare the school for its formal dedication. The water was drained off in time for the dedication, at which former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson addressed 1,200 persons.

Damage to the floor was estimated at $8,000, however. The five youths were charged with malicious mischief and released on $1,000 bond each.

Dixon-Yates Deal May Prove Cure is Worse Than Disease

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Eisenhower Administration's proposed contract with Edgar H. Dixon-E. A. Yates interests to build a new steam generating plant for additional electric power supply in the Tennessee Valley area may yet turn out to defeat what it was intended to do.

For the sake of argument, grant at the start there was merit in the Administration's contention that the Tennessee Valley Authority was getting too big for its britches. Grant also that TVA was a trend towards socialism and away from capitalistic free enterprise.

Few of TVA's customers in the valley will buy that line. But plenty of people outside the valley—particularly people in the private power business—are convinced that TVA should be curbed. The issue at stake here, however, is bigger than TVA—big as it is. The real issue is how far the government should go in its services to the people to promote their welfare.

SOME POLITICIANS APPARENTLY have come to the conclusion that the "peepul" like a certain amount of this government paternalism. They like social security, unemployment insurance and farm price supports, for instance. No U. S. political party could survive for five minutes today if it advocated outright repeal of these measures.

In the question of government-built public power plants, however, the issue isn't quite so clear. But sooner or later the United States was due for a showdown on whether it is to continue in this admittedly somewhat socialistic business, or get out. The fact that this showdown should now come in the Tennessee Valley is only natural. TVA was first in the field. So to repeat—grant that government generation and wholesaling of electric power is socialistic and should be curtailed. The question is how to curtail it?

There have been various proposals in recent years. One is to break up the TVA system and have the government sell its power facilities separately to private companies.

Another proposal is to divorce the government from TVA and authorize it to sell bonds and stocks to the public to finance its operations, instead of making it dependent on annual government appropriations.

ANYWAY, WHATEVER PLAN might be cooked up to get government out of this controversial power business, a first requisite is that the deal be as clean as the proverbial hound's tooth. Furthermore, it should provide every assurance that the customers would be given better service at cheaper rates than TVA itself has provided.

The deal which the Eisenhower administration finally came up with to stop the further expansion of TVA has now been subject to attack for months for failing to meet these standards. This is in spite of the fact that President Eisenhower has given assurances that the proposed Dixon-Yates contract is an honorable negotiation in the best interests of the American people.

The charges made against the contract are many: Its cost estimates are based on doctored figures. It was secretly negotiated, without competitive bidding. Though the power generated would go into the TVA system, Atomic Energy Commission has been made the contracting agent for the government, short-circuiting TVA. A majority of AEC did not approve the contract.

IT IS FURTHER CHARGED that cost of the proposed plant will be higher than similar facilities built under TVA supervision. The rate which the contractor will receive has been calculated as double the rate which TVA would charge. The contractor's rate of profit is questioned. The contractor would be protected against risk or loss. The taxpayers would have to pay for the plant twice, and in the end they would not own it and so on.

The Administration's weakness in this case is that while it has denied these charges, they have not been satisfactorily refuted. The truth will apparently come out only when the final contract is made public and is subjected to congressional scrutiny.

But the mere fact that a deal as questionable as this is proposed as a means to stop the growth of TVA sets back the entire effort to stop the growth of socialism in government.

The cure for socialism is not the restoration of subsidized monopolies in secretly negotiated contracts. That is where the Dixon-Yates deal may backfire.

By BILL MELTON
BUSY DEPT.: Ken Hamilton and Elmer Gladson, WEBQ sportscasters, have a busy schedule this week, with five games to be aired in three days. With basketball and football overlapping at this time, don't be surprised if someone dribbles the length of the floor for a touchdown or maybe dashes around end for a free throw.

Thursday afternoon Ken and Elmer broadcast the Harrisburg-Benton grid game from Taylor Field and that night air the Eldorado-Fairfield football game. Friday night they will be on the air with the Carrier Mills-Norris City cage contest at N. C. and Saturday afternoon from Carbondale they will describe the SIU-Washington university football game. The week's schedule ends with a Saturday night broadcast of the freshman-sophomore Harrisburg-Benton football game.

Warming up for this extensive schedule they were on the air Monday night with the Harrisburg-West Frankfort freshman-sophomore football game and Tuesday from Equality gave the Equality-Crab Orchard game.

If you can't go, listen! And even if you did go, or listened, check on your memory by reading all about it in The Daily Register sports pages. The Register tries to give complete coverage on all area sports, plus others. During the football season, which is nearly over, Eldorado as well as Harrisburg football games were covered by a Register reporter. We will also have full coverage on basketball from Harrisburg, Eldorado, Carrier Mills, Galatia, Ringway, Shawneetown, Equality, and other teams in the Greater Egyptian conference, plus Thompsonville.

The above is a fact as well as a plug for the Register sports page.

Auburn Pilot, Shug Jordan Coach of Week

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — No student ever came to him for help with advanced algebra problems but on the football field he came up with the equation that X plus Y equals V — for victory.

His team was supposed to be a powerhouse, but somewhere along the line it developed a short circuit on defense. It could score liberally but the opposition did even better. Finally he scrapped his version of the two-platoon system and came up with the Southland's upset of the year.

He's the United Press Coach of the Week, Ralph (Shug) Jordan of the Auburn Plainsmen, who last Saturday turned Miami's mighty Hurricane into a gentle gale zephyr with a 14-13 stunner that surprised everybody but him.

Last year when Jordan's rebuilding program at Auburn began to pay off with seven victories, two defeats and a tie, the 44-year-old ex-football star from the Alabama sugar cane country near Selma developed two full squads.

He called them his X and Y units and he used them both on offense and defense. About equal in ability, he refused to single out one as a first team.

This year Auburn was supposed to be even better, but things didn't work out that way. After trouncing Chattanooga in a breather opener, the Plainsmen lost three one-touchdown decisions in a row to Florida, Kentucky and Georgia Tech.

"We just couldn't stop them from running and passing on us," Jordan said. "So I decided to get away from the X and Y units and put the best talent on one squad. Things started looking better."

Auburn picked up momentum by rolling over Florida State and Tulane, then cut loose with full fury against Miami. This week Auburn takes on Georgia's surprising Bulldogs, who have risen to the top in the Southeastern Conference race, and there are many experts who believe the Plainsmen will win this one, too.

Shawneetown in Easy Win At Vienna; Thompsonville, Crab Orchard Victorious

Shawneetown, Thompsonville and Crab Orchard posted victories in area basketball games last night. It was the second straight for the power-laden Indians who invaded Vienna and packed home a one-sided 63-36 triumph.

Thompsonville felled Mills Prairie, 73-51, and Crab Orchard handed Equality its third setback in the yet new season, 45-41. The tussles were opening night affairs for Thompsonville and Crab Orchard.

Despite their wide margin, Shawneetown's triumph proved costly as leaping Bobby Spottsville sustained a knee injury in the fracas. Examination revealed today that Spottsville suffered painful injuries to the member and will be out of action for a couple of games.

Shawnee trailed their host, 13-9, at the end of the first canto but staged a 24-point second quarter to establish a 33-18 halftime edge. The Indians continued the pace in the third and led 49-26 entering the final period.

Veterans Spottsville and Jack Nolen controlled the rebounds for the Indians, and Nolen contributed 21 points to the cause. Garrison Newsom collected 21 tallies, Spottsville 12.

At T-tville, the invading aggregation jumped out in front 17-9 and were still leading the Thompsonville Tigers, 30-24 at halftime. A third quarter rally gave the Tigers a 45-40 edge, and they won moving away in the last eight minutes of play.

Thompsonville lost three of their starting five via personal fouls but had plenty of reserve strength for the clutch.

Run Into Trouble — The veteran Crab Orchard club experienced plenty of trouble before subduing Equality. Coach "Kayo" Willis' Cardinals bounced into a 14-7 advantage only to see the visitors wipe out the edge by halftime. The intermission score stood at 22-21.

Loss of big Ken Wooley through fouls again proved costly to the Cardinals. The Gallatin county club put up a tough battle during the final two periods with Eddie Kaufmann and Ray Crayne leading the way.

SHAWNEETOWN — Nolen 20, Gunzel 8, Spottsville 12, Newsom 21, Drone 0, Joyner 0, Ellis 2. VIENNA — Hacker 3, Cato 2, Hacker 2, Webb 8, Settlement 10, Walters 11.

THOMPSONVILLE — Lemmon 6, Doss 1, Carlisle 19, Hodgson 21, Marsh 3, Gregory 7.

MILLS PRAIRIE — Stewart 4, M. Meritt 31, G. Meritt 9, Taylor 6, McNeal 1.

EQUALITY — Milligan 7, Teegarden 0, Joyner 0, Porter 6, Kaufmann 18, Crane 8, Wooley 2.

CRAB ORCHARD — Legeriet 0, Peebles 5, Proctor 12, Chance 8, Graves 5, Hill 5.

Thus the Eagles end the season as they opened—with a night game away from home. Back on Sept. 17 the Eagles made a trip to Anna to open the season and won, 14-12. They will be trying to continue the similarity of the start and finish, by making tomorrow night's game a win.

To date Eldorado has copped the decision five times and lost three. A win Armistice Day would give the Eagles a fine 6-6 season, six victories in nine starts.

So far this season Fairfield has won two of six. They defeated Flora and Albion and lost to Mt. Carmel, Olney, Carmi and Lawrenceville.

Using Carmi as a basis, the Mules of Fairfield would appear to have a slight edge over Eldorado. Both lost to the powerful Bull Dogs from Carmi, Eldorado going down to a 34-9 loss and Fairfield falling 32-6.

If Eldorado coach Al Adams continues to follow the plan he has used off and on all season with unusual effect last Friday, he will alternate a power backfield and a pony ball carrying department.

Adams had Vogel and Lovellette plunging against the Marion line last week, then changed to the seatbacks, Sutton and Gwaltney, with Potts operating with both units. It worked fine. Clark quarterbacked the team and Stroke, an end, also operated at halfback part of the time.

Big Lovellette and Vogel pounded the line for short gains and Gwaltney and Sutton pleased the crowd with long, twisting dashes. And dependable Potts was used throughout, and capped a fine season with two touchdowns.

Kickoff time is scheduled for 7:30.

BIG BAD WOLF—It isn't a rare incident for a wolf to be killed in this area, but such an occurrence is still unusual enough to attract attention. This one was killed Saturday in Hamilton county, just across the Saline county line, about three miles southeast of Broughton on the Ed Gholson farm. Inman Wheeler, McLeansboro, district fire warden, bagged the animal after receiving a call to come to the Gholson farm. The wolf was sighted there by operator of a combine working in a lespedeza field. The wolf was lying in the lespedeza that had not been combined. At first he moved as the tractor neared, but soon became so accustomed to the machine, he permitted it to come near him. Mr. Wheeler mounted the combine at some distance from the animal, then shot with a .22 rifle as he approached. One bullet entered just behind the left front leg and was immediately fatal. The weight of the animal was not determined, but it was quite a load for Mr. Wheeler to lift for the Register cameraman.

Instead of cutting a paper for the bird cage each morning, cut six or eight papers; place them in a cage and then remove the top one as required.

Ford Dealers To Show New Trucks Friday

Twenty-four series including 190 models of 1955 Ford trucks ranging from 30-ton tandem-axle "Big Jobs" down to F-100 pickups, all designed to make money for operators on every hauling job, will be introduced by Ford dealers throughout the country Friday, Nov. 12. Barham-Green, local Ford dealer, will show the new models.

L. D. Crusoe, Ford Motor Company vice president and general manager of Ford Division, in announcing the new truck models, said:

"A truck should be bought with the same consideration for low cost operation as any machine tool. Actually a truck is a capital goods item and when we design them we think of them that way. All of our new trucks have greater durability, more gas economy and lower maintenance expense built into them."

Ford's five truck engines, built exclusively for the truck lines, include Six and V-8 engines. Three engines have increased horsepower and compression ratios.

The 1955 models have new larger parking lights and larger, shield-shaped tail lights adaptable to class "A" turn signals. They are manufactured in five lines and conventional series, six cab forward series, four school bus chassis series, two tandem axle series, two parcel delivery chassis series and a new Courier custom delivery truck styled like the 1955 Ford passenger cars. GVW ratings run from 4,000 to 40,000 lbs. and GCW ratings to 60,000 lbs. There are 15 wheelbase lengths for custom-built bodies from 5½ to 19 ft long.

Mid-70's Best for Those in Mental Work

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. — Science has found out that persons engaged in mental work are at their best when the temperature reading is about the middle 70's.

A recent study of office workers performing their tasks at varying degrees of temperature showed that efficiency dropped rapidly when the mercury went up because the atmosphere was unable to absorb the extra heat generated by the body.

berg, chairman of recreation and outdoor education at Southern, plans already are underway for improving camp facilities for next year's program when various camp groups will offer many more camper-days to area children.

FORD'S 24 SERIES OF 1955 TRUCKS, with 190 models extending from the tandem axle "Big Job" (shown above) to pickups, are designed to make money for operators on every hauling job. The new models, with improved engines and chassis, and more comfortable full foam rubber seats in custom cabs, will be introduced at Ford dealers' show-rooms November 12. The new Ford trucks will be shown locally at Barham-Green garage, local dealer.

Issue Warrants Against Five In Shooting at Cairo

CAIRO, Ill. — A warrant charging assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill was issued today against five men for the shooting of a CIO Maritime Union organizer here last Saturday.

Police Chief Earl Shepherd Jr., said the warrant was issued for J. W. Banta and his brothers Ernest, Bert and Frank, and James Dixon, a crewman on a towboat belonging to the Banta Towing Co.

which is owned by the brothers, Gordon Knapp, 30, St. Louis, who was shot in the left arm Saturday, filed the complaint. The warrant was issued by Police Magistrate Max Beville.

Shepherd said federal authorities would be asked to issue a complaint against the five men and aid in their arrest.

Knapp was shot when he approached the M-V George Banta owned by the towing company at a barge landing near here.

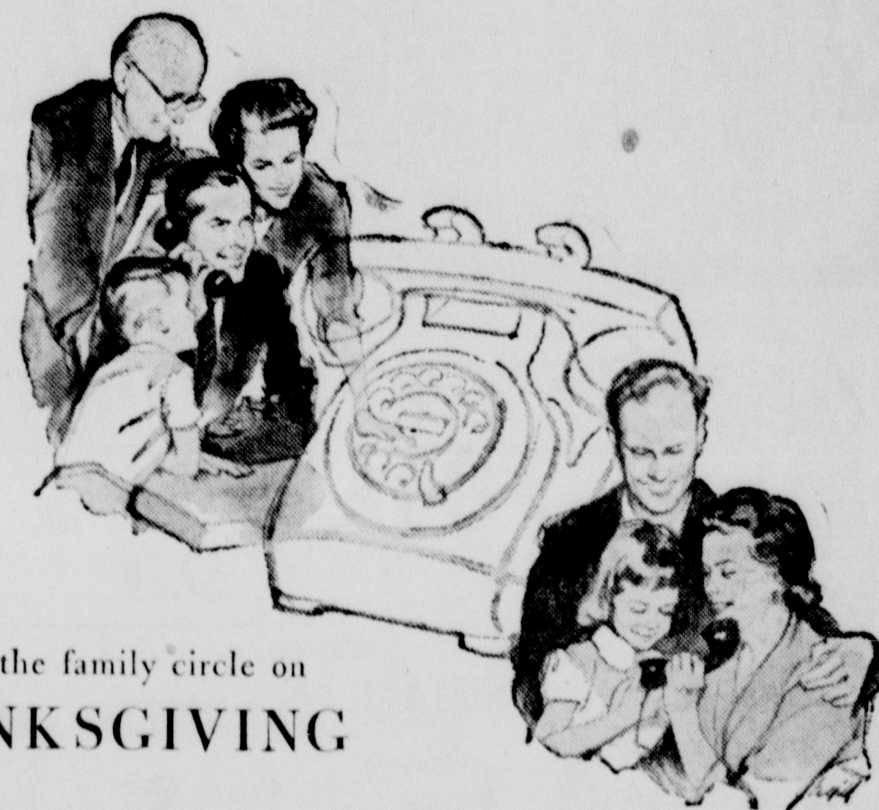

Knapp's union, the CIO Marine Engineers Beneficial Assn. and the AFL Masters, Mates and Pilots Union seek to organize the Banta lines.

New Blouses Add Top Style Interest

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK (NEA)—Because the top of the silhouette has gained such fashion emphasis this fall, blouses are getting imaginative neckline treatments and collars of many shapes and sizes. There's freshness, too, in the way detailing is used at the back as well as front of a blouse.
The fill-in necklines and removable collars in the new blouses are real budget-savers for career and college girls since they permit a daytime-to-date transition. Fill-ins sometimes take the shape of a turtle-neck gilet which, when removed, leaves a flattering boat neckline that's a background for pretty accessories.

Sailor collars and peaked-back collars add as much individuality as the new back treatments that often have narrow, flat pleats set below a yoke.
We show the striped cotton shirt (left) by Dorothy Korby, done with a yoke of solid color as backdrop for a flat collar and turn-back cuffs.

Mrs. A. W. Blass Speaks To P. T. A. on Mentally Retarded Children

The Carrier Mills P. T. A. met recently and Mrs. A. W. Blass, secretary of the Saline County Association for Mentally Retarded Children, was guest speaker for the evening.

In her talk she stated that these children are found in the families of rich and poor alike, children of highly intellectual parents and those of medium and low intelligence as well, and asked that the group not confuse mental retardation and mental illness, which is sometimes done, for they are quite different. The mentally retarded person, she explained, may be compared to an unfinished wall — something has been left out; while the mentally ill person would be like the wall which has been completed but has deteriorated. The mind was sound at one time, but something happened to crack it. For the mentally ill there is hope for a cure, and for the mentally retarded there can be no cure, but there is hope for improvement in individual cases.

Generally speaking, she said, this condition results from a brain injury or disturbance of the nervous system, either before, during or shortly after birth. It may result from an infection of the brain tissue, known as encephalitis, or an infection of the tissues covering the brain, called meningitis. It may be caused from brain infection from polio and other childhood diseases, though the child may recover completely from other effects of the disease.

She mentioned that four short years ago there was no such organization as the National Association for Retarded Children but only a few isolated parent's groups around the country. In the fall of 1950 the N. A. R. C. held its founding convention at Minneapolis. The headquarters is now in New York City with 325 locally affiliated chapters in 46 states with a rapidly growing membership exceeding 40,000 families.

The Saline County Association was organized only last June with 10 families being in the initial group. The organization is now affiliated with the Illinois Council and the National Association for Mentally Retarded Children.

She concluded by telling the group that Nov. 14-23 has been set aside as National Retarded Children's Week which has two purposes — one to help the people of this country to understand the retarded child and to raise money which will help finance the program to serve these "Children Limited."

U. S. Capitol Has Used Flag Deal

WASHINGTON — If you hear that the flag on your local schoolhouse once flew over the U. S. Capitol, it probably did—for a few minutes anyway.

More flags fly from the flagpole over the west entrance of the Capitol than almost anywhere else in the country.

After a short time aloft, each of these flags is hauled down, packed and shipped across the country to a school, veterans post or civic organization. During a busy season, Capitol police get a real workout running flags up and down the flagpole every few minutes.

The practice of distributing worn-out Capitol flags was initiated some years ago. But officials found that the supply of legitimately worn-out flags was never equal to the demand.

Now, a congressman, who usually fills such requests for the folks back home, purchases a flag from the House stationery shop and sends it over to the Capitol architect, David Lynn, to have it flown over the buildings. Lynn sees that this is done and returns the flag with a letter stating that it flew over the Capitol. The congressman mails it back home.

Several hundred requests for flags are filled each year. Lynn said he uses the flagpole over the west entrance because it's a newer type and easier to operate. The flags over the west and east entrances of the Capitol are two of a handful of American flags permitted to fly day and night.

Pontiac's brilliant new styling steps you years ahead in a single bold move. From its "dream car" front end with its twin silver streaks to the new upswept rear fenders, Pontiac for 1955 is far and away the most distinctive car on the road—a beautiful pattern for tomorrow. Everything about its thrilling new beauty says "Let's Go!"

BEAUTIFUL ALL-NEW PANORAMIC BODY

Lower, wider, roomier, Pontiac's new panoramic Body by Fisher provides sweeping vision all around, with new panoramic windshield and extra-wide rear window.
